Quote:

| 'In time to come, when I have passed away, there will a rise in the east a city called Samudra [Sumatra]. When you hear tell of this city make ready a ship to take to it all the regalia and panoply of royalty. Guide its people into the religion of peace. Let them recite the words of the profession of faith. For in that city shall God raise up saints in great number.' (The Prophet, in: Pasai Chronicles)
